

The EDEN steering committee is organising a symposium devoted to actinic keratoses on Friday 8 June 2007 as a satellite to the 11th World Congress on Cancers of the Skin (8 – 11 June 2007) in Amsterdam: <http://wccs2007.ics-online.com/>

The title of this symposium is: Actinic keratoses beyond the name: disease definition and public health implications

The purpose of this symposium is to come to a consensus about the most important and controversial issues in the field of actinic keratoses. Expert speakers will be invited and active discussion will focus on how we define, diagnose and treat actinic keratoses. Some other “hot topics” such as the implications of costs and treatment and the feasibility of treatment vs. prevention will be discussed. The emphasis of the symposium will be on facts and evidence.
